

POLARIS ballistic missile

U.S. NAVAL SUPPLY DEPOT CLEARFIELD . . . OGD. , UTAH
Telephone TAYlor 5-1661 Ext. 251

FROM THE OFFICE OF TECHNICAL INFORMATION

NEWS RELEASE

DESTROYER

~~FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE-----~~

28 March 1961

Naval Supply Depot, Clearfield. . . . An historic event for the state of Utah will take place on April 10th at the Naval Supply Depot in Clearfield. This installation has received authorization from the Navy Department to transport the USS UTAH ship's bell from a museum in Pearl Harbor's Naval Station, and present it to the state of Utah on an indefinite loan basis. The USS UTAH was sunk by the Japanese in Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941.

This special ceremony has been planned to coincide with the 18th Anniversary program of the Naval Supply Depot. The Clearfield Naval installation will make the presentation on behalf of the Navy Department. Commander W.G. Knopf, SC, USN, acting Commanding Officer of the Naval Supply Depot, reports that many state and federal dignitaries will be on hand for the ceremony and the general public is invited to attend. "We, of the Navy, feel it is a very important ceremony in which all Utahns will be most interested.", Commander Knopf said.

Approved /s/ W.G. Knopf